BOOTLEGGING BUSINESS REQUIRES PROFIT OF 2000 PER CENT TO PAY FOR PROTECTION AND MORE EMPLOYEES THAN N. Y. CENTRAL RAILROAD

NOTE: Liquor is easily obtainable in New York's old white light district but it comes high. What are the profits and where do they go? One pint of whiskey traced from source to consumer tells the story.

(By FRANK W. GETTY)
NEW YORK, July 29.—When you pay $15 for a pint of liquor worth 60 cents, where does your money go?

It helps to pay salaries, running expenses and dividends of what is rapidly becoming one of the big industries of the United States—the business of bootlegging.

This is the story of one particular pint of hooch (called scotch whiskey traced to its source) up the stream of illicit liquor which is flowing in ever-increasing volume into and thru the country.

The pint was born at a cabaret a few doors off Broadway in the heart of the "white light" district.

The proprietor charged $15.00 a pint. He bought the liquor at $12.00 a case. His profit was 200 per cent or $19 on the pint. He says he sells about 20 pints a night on an average. Out of his profit of over $2,000 a week, he pays $300 for "protection" while "hush money" incidental to his having the hooch on hands costs him $200 more. On an average of once a week a genuine raid forces him to send his supply gurgling down the sink at no profit whatever.

Our pint reached this particular cabaret in the form of a raincoat carried carelessly over the arm of a furtive-eyed messenger. The retailer less than three blocks away, paid $80 a case for this whiskey, because it was "good stuff," in genuine bottles with real labels and stamps. His profit was 50 per cent or about $1.67 on the pint under discussion, but he sells about 500 pints a day, on "good days." His headquarters, thinly disguised, cost him "something terrible," he says, in the way of "protection."

Every day or so, trucks drive up to his warehouse with their liquid freight. A syndicate, which bottled the stuff in a well concealed plant not 3,000 miles from Times Square, pays the drivers of these trucks $10 a week. It pays high wages to its workmen, buying silence as well as skill. It pays as high as $1.50 and $2 apiece for "genuine non-refillable bottles" and a slice of its profits goes to expert counterfeiters of internal revenue stamps.

The whiskey which was delivered to the retailer C. O. D. at $80 a case cost the syndicate $9.50 a gallon. F. O. B.—that is flung overboard from a sailing ship in from the Bahamas. The foreign crew which had brot the liquor along at their own risk were content with a profit of 100 per cent.

Our pint of whiskey cost 60 cents at the source. The business of bootlegging transferred it from producer to consumer at a profit of 2,000 per cent, and yet many bootleggers are talking of quitting business.

BRITAIN WARNS FRANCE TO END AGGRESSIVENESS

LONDON, JULY 29.—Great Britain has formerly warned France that unless she abandons her present policy, there will be a general break-up of the European entente, it was learned this afternoon.

This warning was contained in a note dispatched by Marquis Curzon in a reply to a previous communication from Premier Briand of France dealing with Upper Silesia.

The French note received here yesterday was described as the sharpest of all the Franco-British exchanges.

One British official who was conversant with the contents, said that the tone "resembled an ultimatum" and that the language "was comparable with a threat to sever Anglo-French relations."

Great Britain in her reply declared that a continuance of the French policy of acting alone threatens to break down the entente cordiale.

Great Britain repeated that there was no necessity for sending allied reinforcements to Upper Silesia at this time.

The British communication concludes with the hope that the French note of Thursday is not the considered opinion of the French government.

HEART TROUBLE IS CAUSE OF SUDDEN DEATH FRIDAY OF MRS. G. W. DENZER

Mrs. George W. Denzer, aged 66, died suddenly in her bed at her home, 944 Chestnut St., Friday morning at 1 o'clock from neuritis of the heart. Mrs. Denzer had been enjoying the best of health and had not complained of any ailment. She and her husband enjoyed the evening reading and chatting at the home Thursday and Mrs. Denzer was in the best of spirits.

Toward morning Mrs. Denzer was stricken with neuritis of the heart. She awakened her husband by her heavy breathing. Mr. Denzer tried to arouse her from her slumber but death claimed her within a few minutes.

Mrs. Denzer's maiden name was Miss Marie Magnus. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jane Magnus of Plainfield. The date of Miss Magnus' birth was Nov. 11, 1854 at Plainfield.

She spent her childhood days on a farm at Plainfield. She was married to G. W. Denzer January 21, 1882. Since that time they have made their home in Coshocton.

In her childhood she became afflicted with rheumatism and has been a faithful worker in the local Presbyterian church since she made her home here. Mr. Denzer was a woman of considerable qualities.

Besides the deceased, the family leaves two children, Earl E. Denzer, of Denzerville, and a daughter, Mrs. Louise Denzer, of Denzerville.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Rev. D. C. Boyd of Pleasant St. Burial will be made in South Lawn cemetery.

On brother Samuel Magnus' Plainfield, two sisters, Mrs. O. H. Boyd of Fredericktown, and Mrs. Sam and Vanhook of New Market town and one grandchild, E. H. Louise Denzer, of Denzerville.

Mrs. Denzer was an aunt of Wilham Denzer, whose death occurred at his home on Poplar St. Sunday.

Working Man Cannot Be Expected To Take Wage Cuts When Shelter Taken Such A Large Part Of Pay Envelope, Says Head Of Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank—Says Circle Is Hopeless

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Rents are far too high and should come down as one of the urgent factors needed to get business on a stable foundation, D. C. Wells, chairman of the Cleveland federal reserve bank, declared in a lengthy statement issued on business conditions today.

Rent, one of the main items in living costs, is out of step and has been along the entire line of march," he said. "In the majority of cases it has failed even to start downward. From some parts of the country come reports that rents are still climbing. It is unreasonable to expect labor to work for lower wages when such a large part of the pay envelope is required for shelter alone."

"It looks as if we are traveling in a hopeless circle but action of certain automobile dealers casts considerable light on the subject."

Instead of hanging back and complaining that the other fellow is to blame, they reduced prices and convinced prospective buyers that they meant business. The theory that the man who has nerve enough to cut prices regardless of what others are doing will get the trade was proven correct by the increase in orders."

Chairman Wells said indications are that the iron and steel industry has reached its low ebb, and improvement may be looked for while the "rubber industry is again showing some life and the general outlook is more cheerful."

Reports from the textile and garment manufacturers this month are quite optimistic, he stated. "Business in worsted materials is said to be good."

"The combined reports from 14 large banks and trust companies throughout the fourth district show an increase in deposits for June, 1921 over the same month last year of 2.13 per cent. An increase of 1.19 per cent is shown for June 1921, as compared with May, 1921."

As to operations in the steel industry, Chairman Wells said plants working during the fourth month have averaged around 21 to 25 per cent of the country's steel capacity, a condition that has continued for several weeks.

As to the rubber industry, he said there was a considerable movement to increase production of rubber heels and soles and to depend less on the tire end of the business. There has been a remarkable growth, he said, in the use of rubber heels.

POPULAR SEMI-PRO TEAMS TO RETURN HERE AUGUST 4TH

The Zanesville Mark Greys knotted the season's series 3 to 3 with Massillon when they trimmed the Massillon Agathons on the Zanesville 1st Thursday afternoon by the score of 5 to 3. The next game will be played at Coshocton Thursday, August 1.

Two big home runs by Earl Blackburn, Massillon catcher and one long homer by Harry Bacon, third sacker for Massillon, which came luckily with none on bases, proved the targets for the Mark Greys to shoot at, and that they hit the mark five times is shown by the score.

"Toke" Fullerton was on the bill for the Mark Greys. He was up to his neck in the game, twirling his team mates to a creditable victory, and driving in a dandy double in the fifth inning for Zanesville's first score.

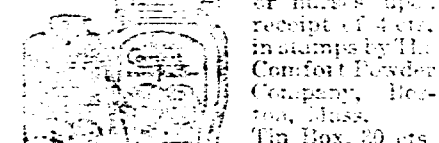

"Red" Hart, was sent to the tab for the Agathons, and for the first four innings had the home boys on the wagon, only one safety being col-

Refuses To Work, But Dances Pretty

KANSAS CITY, MO., July 28.—This narrative deals with the "easiest" man.

Her face registered extreme weariness; her shoulders were stooped, and she looked as the she would soon drop from sheer exhaustion, as she walked into the office of W. J. Burke, attorney for the Free Legal Aid Bureau.

"My husband has not worked for months," she started, on one of the common "regulation" pleas which are heard daily at the bureau. "He is a plumber and able to work."

"I work to support my three children and keep them in school. I prepare lunches for them to carry, and my husband takes their food. I do not want to sue him, because of the children, but I am at the end of the road."

"Last night he wanted to go to a dance, as usual. I had only one pair of silk stockings—the first I ever owned. He found them and cut off the tops, so he could wear them to the dance."

The attorney told the woman to secure a non-support warrant.

OXFORD CO-EDS DEBATE STYLES

LONDON, July 28.—Thorny questions about the proper kit of the Oxford University women students are being put to the Junior Proctor, who is the one licensed authority on fashion in academic clothes.

He had decided that women must come to examinations in a skirt and coat of "subtuse hue," which is the medieval ordinance still in vogue, if not obeyed, for man's attire.

Her blouse must be white, and her tie must be black. This declaration does not end the fashion master's problems.

The decision is that parasols may be carried, but must be black and white. It is probable that "black or white" is meant, for no parasol can be made more startling than a good magpie arrangement.

TWO STORES WOULD BE WORTH $10,000

AKRON, July 29.—Jacob Beck has all the income tax officers beaten by lease, Sarbinsky suddenly backed out a block when it comes to juggling figures. Beck filed suit against Morris Sarbinsky today asking $5,000.

Beck says the sum asked represents the profits he would have made had Sarbinsky permitted him to open a grocery store in the building he rented last fall.

Beck charges that after signing the lease, Sarbinsky suddenly backed out of the deal and leased the building to William Romanoff instead.

GOV. SMALL OUT ON ROAD SURVEY TOUR IGNORES SHERIFF

CHICAGO, July 29.—Leaving his affairs in the hands of five attorneys, Gov. Small under indictment for misappropriation of state interest funds, departed today on a tour of inspection of Illinois roads. The purpose of the tour is to obtain information to be used in the awarding of contracts for road construction.

The plans of the governor is announced, calls for visits to Kane, Will, Cole and other counties of the state. He conferred this morning with a delegation from Lake county regarding road building there. The tour, contemplated will require several days, making it evident that the governor will not return to Springfield, where warrants for his arrest are held by Sheriff Henry Mester, until some time next week at least.

Gov. Small persists in his contention that the sheriff has no authority to arrest him.

"The executive functions cannot be interfered with," he said. "The constitution so holds, regardless of the opinion of Judge E. S. Smith of Sangamon county."

"But suppose Sheriff Mester attempts to serve the warrants while you are conducting your survey?" the governor was asked.

"He has no authority to arrest me," the governor said.

"But what if he insists he has and attempts to force such a decision?"

"I will not tolerate any interference."

"How will you stop it?"

"I cannot say just now."

Governor Small spent the night with his family at Kankakee but returned to Chicago early today.

PARALYTIC; OPERATION EIGHT YEARS HELPLESS ON BRAIN CURES HIM

DENVER, July 29.—Luther Dionne, for many years a shoemaker of Drummondville, Ont., has been "reborn" as a living, happy, active man after a hospital here for nearly eight years.

Today he is enjoying his five vital senses as the result of an extremely delicate but highly successful operation upon his brain for the removal of a tumor.

In addition to the restoration of the senses of smelling, tasting, hearing, seeing and feeling the operation brought back to Dionne the faculty of speech.

Dionne's recovery has been very slow, but steady, and he can now read and write and move about.

Deaf, dumb and blind and paralyzed in every limb, Dionne was carried into the county hospital in 1913. Food had to be administered to him by means of a tube thru the nostrils. He could not feel, smell nor taste, and physicians said he could not even think.

For months he existed in his living death, his condition of complete inertia remaining unchanged. Then Dr. Clarence Hall and Dr. Leonard Freeman determined to operate on Dionne's brain. They discovered that the nerve centres had been paralyzed by a tumor nearly an inch in diameter.

The tumor was removed and the process of "regeneration" for Dionne set in. It crept over his body slowly. He moved first one finger, then a second and then his whole hand. Then, one day, he stirred his head, and finally, the most anxiously awaited sign of all came when the patient spoke.

IS SIMPLY GRAND SAYS OHIO WOMAN

Mrs. Tittle Can Keep Busy All Day Long Without Tiring — Smothering Spells Gone.

"Before I took Tanlac I was so weak I could hardly sweep out a room but now I can keep busy all day long and not feel tired," said Mrs. Cora Tittle, 326 Hollibaugh Ave., Akron, O. "I had indigestion so bad I suffered agonies after every meal. My food soured and bloated me up so with gas I nearly smothered and would have to fight for my breath. I had almost unbearable pains in the pit of my stomach and felt miserable for hours. I lost my appetite completely, fell off in weight and grew weaker all the time, until finally I got so run down I felt unfit for anything."

"But I improved almost from the very first bottle of Tanlac, and three bottles have made me a well and happy woman. My appetite is so good I want to be eating all the time and everything agrees with me perfectly, for I have gained eight pounds in weight. I am so much stronger that my housework is a pleasure to me now, and I simply feel fine. Tanlac is simply grand."

COLORADO RANCHERS FIGHT 'LOCO WEED' RANK CATTLE POISON

DENVER, July 29.—Keep the Cattle from going Crazy! will be the motto of the Jefferson County Livestock Association, recently organized by stockraisers in the South Park section of the Pike National Forest, forty miles west of Denver.

The new organization was formed in an effort to put a stop to the whole sale eating of "loco weed" by the cattle in that section of the state.

J. H. Hatton, assistant district forester and livestock expert, connected with the United States Forestry Department, says that the loss of cattle and horses in the South Park section has become so heavy in recent years that stockmen declare they are threatened with bankruptcy.

The "loco weed" is one of the greatest menaces to the stockraising industry in the west, according to cattlemen. The weed resembles alfalfa in the shape of the leaf and size of the plant, but usually is white or purple in color. Because it grows luxuriantly in the spring and fall, before and after the summer grass thrives, cattle on the open ranges eat it for lack of anything else. Altho it has practically no nutritive value, the "loco weed" generates an appetite for it, after the cattle have browsed a few times on the weed, and they eventually refuse to eat anything else. They become so "dopey" and poor that they are valueless as beef, and hundreds die annually from malnutrition.

The new association will co-operate with the Federal Forestry Department in keeping cattle off the "loco ranges" until summer grass is plentiful, in the hope that the menace can be removed.

KANSAS LABOR WILL FIGHT INDUSTRIAL COURT THRU MOVIES

TOPEKA, Kan., July 29.—A weekly publication, moving pictures and a stumping tour throughout the state will be used by Kansas labor in its drive against the industrial court within a short period, according to W. The moving pictures will be confined to visual descriptions of conditions in the Kansas mines.

IS HOLDING HIS OWN

"Ten years ago I received such wonderful help from your medicine for my stomach trouble that I have recommended it to hundreds of other sufferers. Recently a friend of mine whose brother in a distant city was stricken with acute indigestion and was not expected to live, got his brother to take a bottle on my advice. I have just received word that his brother was holding his own, and I am confident that Mayr's Wonderful Remedy will entirely restore him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and stops the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Wm. Mayr, Arsenal St., Portland, Ore., and druggists everywhere.

HARD TIMES ARE PRODUCTIVE OF TEACHER SURPLUS

Rigid rules governing the examination of school teachers and the granting of certificates to teach were received in Coshocton Thursday by the County Board of Examiners from the Department of Education.

The circular letter to the examiners declares "the supply of elementary teachers is such that it seems certain that only a limited number with temporary certificates can be used."

The letter continues with the prohibition "we direct that no temporary certificates be issued this year with out submitting the facts to this department before the certificates are issued."

Among other things the department rules that the valuation of the applicant's credits is to be made by the department and approved that there shall be no evidence that the teacher

The Last Lap

THE eve of the disarmament conference, as a writer in the New York Herald points out, finds Japan, England, and the United States pushing naval construction with all possible speed. There is a possible explanation of this madness. If the great powers agree to limit their armaments their relative strength will probably be measured by the number of ships completed or under construction at the time of the conference. No government is willing to lose an inch of advantage during what may be the last few months of the great race. And if the disarmament conference fails every government wants to be ready to continue without loss of time on the road to ruin.

Senator Borah is for using the leverage of the Allied debt to the United States, if there is no other way of bringing about universal disarmament. He would, as he said in his speech in the Senate yesterday, postpone the funding of the debt until after the disarmament conference has met and achieved its purpose. And this as Secretary Mellon intimates, is apparently to be our policy. Certainly it is possible to make out a good case against quixotic generosity toward European governments which are wasting on unnecessary military and naval demonstrations more than enough to take care of the debt.

But it is hardly decent for a nation which has just appropriated $400,000,000 for battleships to point a finger at other nations which are also amusing themselves with ships and soldiers. The fact of a considerable doubt that our twelve battleships and battle cruisers now under construction will ever be of the slightest use, except as targets, adds to our folly, but is no evidence of good intentions. We are, in fact, preparing to the best of our ability to go out on the ocean and shoot something. As long as we are doing that we cannot consistently complain of other nations which do the same thing for the same reasons.

The first step in preparation for Mr. Harding's conference is for us to realize that we are not on a moral plane superior to that of the European nations. Our militarists have been unable to force militarism upon us because they couldn't prove that our safety demanded it. Our navalists have been more successful. We are just as ready as England or France to use force when our interests demand it. But, like the other powers, we have reached a point where armaments cost more than they are worth and reason is more economical than force. This last factor, and not any Christian argument or any threat to foreclose, will do most toward making the conference a success.

A Helping Hand To The Railroads

A CARELESS READER of Mr. Harding's message to Congress Wednesday might conclude that the President expects to put half a billion dollars into the pockets of the railway owners without taking them out of any other people's pockets. Of course this is not true. Mr. Harding didn't mean that half a billion dollars could be dug out of the end of the rainbow. He meant that the War Finance Corporation could get hold of that sum and turn it over to the roads without adding to the present total of federal taxes.

The memorandum submitted by James C. Davis, director general of railroads, tells far more than the President's speech. During the period of government operation two sets of claims were established: claims of the government against the roads, and claims of the roads against the government. According to the figures submitted by Mr. Davis the roads owe the government about $763,000,000 for permanent improvements, which must either be funded or deducted from the amount the government owes the railroads. What this latter bill amounts to is uncertain. If the railway claims for "inefficiency of labor" were allowed it might equal, or surpass, the government's bill. But the railway administration refuses to allow this claim and has squeezed two-thirds of the inflation out of all the claims already submitted and acted upon. Half a billion dollars is a rough guess as to the maximum of the legitimate railway claims against the government, and also as to their pressing needs for capital expenditures. What more natural, then, than to provide this amount immediately and let the final settlement wait?

This is, in fact, what the President proposes to do. The War Finance Corporation, if authorized, will take over a sufficient amount of railway securities to yield $500,000,000, discount them, and sell them in the open market. Obviously the only advantage of this procedure will be the ability of the government to make a market for the securities by guaranteeing repayment. If the railways become insolvent the taxpayer will ultimately have to make good. In other words, the government will have taken its pay, or a large portion of it, in paper which may or may not be worth its face value. The railways, on the other hand, will receive real money for an amount at least equal to their total legitimate claims against the government.

The immediate practical advantages of this procedure ought to be considerable. For the expenditure of half a billion dollars by the roads would lessen unemployment somewhat and stimulate business. It may well be the best plan under the circumstances. But it will not take the government out of the railway business. It is far more likely to pull the government in even more deeply. —New York Globe.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 29.—Thoughts Nothing so undignified as a man in white strolling around New York. A man in old-fashioned night shirt. Another cherry vendor playing a mandolin to parade. Wonder how long it would draw attention. A window sign an take my creditors to pass a given number. —Maximas and Pa-tamas, point. There's K. C. B. with a neat but gaudy hatband!

Riffraff of profiteering nouveaux riches lunching on hotel porticos. Newport. A retired bully of the prize ring now an apartment house doorman. Shuttered houses where cryptic lights flare behind crusted glasses at night. Gambling. Junoesque women with eyelashes gummed and blackened airing their poodles. How worldly they appear.

A street band playing The Blue Danube. Three tunes and not a penny. And their expressions never change. Wish they'd play a Sousa March. I'd contribute a nickel. There goes H. L. Mencken. Slings a nasty pen. And looks like a pugilist. A clerk in a flower shop wearing a leather wrist band. Probably fears a strain carrying lilies.

Old Churchill's place gutted. Will soon be a chop suey palace. The finest in America. A marauding tomcat asleep on a policeman's rail coat. Amusing how people sink into the quick photo shops. Old fellow with round detachable cuffs and square agate links. Bet he's rich as Croesus.

Eighth Avenue. Miles of little stores. It is a mystery where the trade comes from. The proprietors stand in the doors, hatless and coatless. And they stay open until 10 at night. A line waiting at an undertaker's parlor. The acres of white tiled lunch rooms and shining coffee urns.

Women, freshly scrubbed, wheeling baby carriages. Waiting for their husbands. And squawking talking machines in every upstairs window. Lack-lustre faces. Blurs of flesh attuned with staring eyes. Make shirt penny drink stands. Portenners gesticulating wildly over some belt in a scale. The youngsters say "diss" and "dat" and reek with health. Home James!

Ferdinand Fernandez runs a small restaurant far up on Columbus Avenue. These respectable people, so far food. Red Dunan and Pat Buckley touch of the neighborhood, went there the other night flummoxed with bad liquor. Fernandez had been blackmailed by them time after time but humility had worn his patience thin and when they began to juggle his pies and upset his little trays of food he shot them both dead. And afterward when the police came he cried, "I have tried so hard to make a living," he said. "I work from 1 in the morning until 1 at night."

New York specializes in insulting, insolent policemen. The rock of the entire force are on Fifth Avenue and Broadway but in the outlying districts they have an exaggerated idea of their importance. A motorist stopped beside one up in the Westchester section and inquired about the condition of a road. "Go find out for yourself," was the report. The motorist happened to be a newly appointed deputy and the next morning the cop was called to headquarters. "I don't know he was a deputy," the policeman is reported to have whined. "I thought he was just an ordinary citizen"—and that epitomizes the policeman's slant on the ordinary citizen.

A certain New York pulpiter, who delights in breaking into the first pages, sent a mimeographed notice to Park Row that he was going to attend a prize fight in Madison Square Garden. He added that he would occupy a ring-side seat. The sport scries got together and in all their accounts next day was the line, "Among those at the ring-side was The Rev. —" And not a single one mentioned his name.

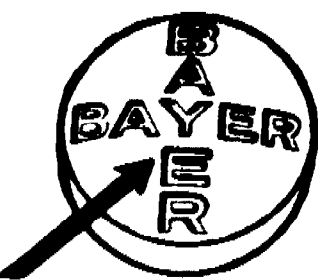

WALT MASON

VICTORIAN DAYS

The late Victorian, methinks produced some able writing zinks, although they're jorred at now, the modern wielders of the pen insist that time by some time wrote tales of awe and crime in place and in hat; and all their tales were good and clean, and they wrote up life, both high and mean, of life, gadzooks! Why write it up in mighty books, in language coarse but left out all the smut. The beautiful and cur! Why overlook the blamming rose to show that seed from which it grows is largely made of dirt? Our later scries evolved to strike against convention and the like, and show life as it is and when I read their stirring tales of gas and power pipe exhalations, I weep and cry "Gee Whizz!" They show up every morbid phase of life and style; and if the tales they tell are true, and life is such a beastly life as lived these rebel days in sin show they would have better do. The British Victorian were wise they wrote of mirth and skinning skies clean shaven and do not men, they knew the world had filth and vice but figured that it wasn't nice with such to sell the pen.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Tells why everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and lower portions called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent throbbing pain and distress, called headaches. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetaminol, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of the irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drunk before breakfast will not only rid these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, hiccoughs, constipation, or sour, acid stomach, begin the phosphate hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

Plant Pathologist Recommends A Way Worked Out In Other States

A convenient modification of the safe way to make Bordeaux Mixtures, assuring the most effective spray solution, has been tried and found good by the New Hampshire and Arkansas experiment stations, and is now recommended by the department of Botany, the Ohio State University.

The old method, long followed by careful and progressive growers, was to make the standard 5-5-50 Bordeaux by mixing five pounds of copper sulphate with 25 gallons of water in one container; by mixing five pounds of burned lime with another 25 gallons of water in another container; and by pouring the two dilutions together. The modified method, said to be just as safe and more convenient, is described as follows by E. E. Clayton, specialist in plant pathology for the State extension service:

"Suppose you have a 50 gallon tank to fill with 5-5-50 Bordeaux. Place in this tank five gallons of the stock copper sulphate solution, equivalent to five pounds of crystals, and then add 25 gallons of water. "Next, take five gallons of the stock lime, equivalent to five pounds of stone lime, dilute it with five gallons of water, pour it into the copper sulphate solution, and stir the two together. Remember always to dilute the copper sulphate either to weak or strong lime solution."

A. F. L. ASKS HIGHER TAX ON LAND VALUES

WASHINGTON, July 29. — Charging that the "Great corporations" and the wealthy are trying to shift the burden of taxation on those less able to pay, the American Federation of Labor today filed a protest against

A free course of lectures and demonstrations that will prove valuable to all.

The Fountain Company

EVERY housewife and young girl will be greatly interested in the unusual course of free lectures to be given by Mr. Shives, in the basement of The Fountain Co. Department Store, under the auspices of the Corn Products Refining Company of New York. Commencing Monday, July 25 to 30th inclusive, Mr. Shives will describe and demonstrate the latest and most improved methods of cooking.

Steaks and chops will be thoroughly cooked—right before your eyes—without a particle of smoke or odor.

You can see—and taste—a banana fritter cooked in the same pan with a piece of fish and an onion. And then see this same oil strained and used successfully in shortening a delicate cake.

The famous Quad Stove sold by The Fountain Co. is used by Mr. Shives for these demonstrations, also The Sellers Kitchen Cabinet, the world's best.

You and your friends are cordially invited to come. Any questions you may like to ask concerning your cooking problems will be cheerfully answered. Bring pad and pencil and take notes during the lecture. Women's Clubs, Teachers' Organizations, and high school domestic science classes especially invited.

PRISON SENTENCES FOR AUTO THIEVES

AKRON, July 29.—Judge H. C. Spicer took the first steps here today to break up the wholesale thefts of motor cars which has caused insurance rates to advance 100 per cent and more within the past few months.

Auto thieves ought to be adequately punished," said the court in sentencing prisoners pleading guilty to charges of auto stealing.

"It is difficult for owners to procure insurance against theft due to the great number of cars stolen. Insurance rates are excessive and the stealing of cars must be discouraged," continued the court as he imposed prison sentences.

Health Prevails

when Nature can send a normal nerve supply free and uninterrupted to every part of the body. If you are not well, why suffer? To those who may question whether pressure upon spinal nerves can cause dis-ease, it is only necessary to say that it has been known for ages that spinal injury can result in paralysis—a complete suspension of function. It has remained for Chiropractic merely to prove that spinal injuries of less severity caused partial paralysis, weakness and dis-ease.

Come In

and let me explain the basic principles of this science of adjustments which relieve impinged nerves and gives you health.

She had obtained his release by selling her cow when he was sent there six weeks ago to serve 90 days and a $50 fine for beating her. Wruzek was her third husband, the others having died. Wruzek wanted her to transfer to him property her former husband owned and when she refused trouble ensued, relatives said. He had fired at her on previous occasions. Wruzek claims burglars killed his wife.

DISTRUST OF ENGLAND GROWS AMONG JAPANESE

TOKIO, July 29.—Distrust of their former ally, Great Britain appears to be one of the results in Japan brot about by the issuance of President Harding's disarmament conference invitation. While issued as the call of the American president, to be held in the Capital city of the United States, many leading Japanese criticize Great Britain saying that Great Britain awaited the call of Harding as a solution of the Anglo-Japanese alliance renewal tangle and the need for retrenchment in naval building that confronted Great Britain. Jiro Sagimori, well known professor of Waseda university and one whose opinion on international matters is regarded highly through Japan called for a campaign for close relations with Russia, as an offset to what is termed the coming "Japanese isolation."

MANUFACTURERS AND MERCHANTS GO TO WASHINGTON IN FORCE TO URGE TAXATION OF LAND VALUES

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Declaring that the present system of federal taxation is responsible for the present business depression because it has reduced the purchasing power of the people, a delegation representing the committee of manufacturers and merchants on federal taxation appeared today before the house ways and means committee and urged the repeal of all excise, excess profits, and corporation taxes, the increasing of inheritance taxes and the establishment of taxation on all land not used for agriculture.

The delegation contended that taxation of land values would not injure business and that it would promote building, solve the housing shortage, provide employment for hundreds of thousands of workers and stimulate all the building trades.

"Land is the only thing, the use of which is stimulated by taxation," the delegation told the committee. "Tax business too heavily and business ceases because unprofitable; tax land values and the land must be used to provide the tax. If the owner is unwilling to use the land, the necessity of paying the taxes induces him to part with the land to some one who will use it."

Actual work in framing the bill will be taken up by the committee next Monday. Several members of the committee believe the work can be completed by the end of the week.

It is the intention to go ahead with all possible speed, because of the temper of the house.

Utilities taxes were discussed today by P. H. Gladsden of the American Gas Association.

Jewelry taxes, mortgage taxes, patent medicine taxes and war taxes were considered.

Increase in corporation income tax from 10 per cent to 15 or 16 per cent was considered in connection with pleas for repeal of the capital stock tax.

MOB QUELLING BY
USE OF GAS BOMBS
BEING PRACTICED

NEW YORK, July 29.—Is it a coincidence that New York and Philadelphia—and other cities to follow, probably—have had demonstrations of "mob quelling" by police with gas bombs at this time when the country wide union-smashing campaign is at its height and five millions are protesting against wage slashes?

It is carefully explained that they are only "tear bombs," which merely blind the victims. Nothing is said as to the possible effect of the gas on lungs weakened and perhaps diseased by the conditions of modern industry. The demonstrators were careful not to use too many bombs anyway.

In Philadelphia small parties of police "repelled" a "mob" cleared a house of "bandits" and caught an automobile load of "fugitives." But it was the "mob quelling" which evoked the most enthusiasm, particularly in the newspapers, and in New York at Fort Totten, L. I., where the demonstration was held they didn't bother about clearing a house of bandits or catching automobile fugitives. The "mob" was the thing.

The sort of gatherings that lynch and burn and tar-and-feather and otherwise uphold "law and order" and "100 per cent Americanism," not having been seriously molested in the past need probably have no fear of the gas bombs.

SAVED $500,000 ON ROAD CONTRACT

COLUMBUS, July 29.—That a saving of half a million dollars was effected in Friday's letting of highway contracts is the declaration of Director of Highways L. C. Herrick, in a statement issued late Saturday.

This saving, Mr. Herrick shows, is brought about through the total bids on all the work for amounting to $2,965,882, as compared with the department's engineers' estimate of $3,419,774, bringing the average cost per mile down approximately $1000 and of new construction and reconstruction combined to about $2500.

Characterizing it as the greatest price drop in years' in highway work, Mr. Herrick credits three principal causes:

First the feeling by contractors that labor prices are now fairly stabilized; second, a 20 per cent average reduction in raw materials cost; third, general business conditions, which make contractors anxious for business.

A similar drop in bridge construction bids is noted, and even more striking reduction is found in bids on maintenance and repair jobs. The estimated cost of 14.8 miles was $205,249 while the bids accepted total $249,155, a reduction of 18.3 per cent making the cost per mile $16,835.

Highway construction costs will be still further reduced, Mr. Herrick declared, when the reduction in freight rates hoped for by the administration materializes.

By August 7 there will be 7,051 miles of roadway under construction, the director declared, an increase of 300 miles since January. The total contracts let this year amount to 254 miles, as compared with a total for the entire year of 1914—the highest previous letting—of 563.21 miles.

Regarding drops in material costs, Mr. Herrick cites reductions of 20 per cent a ton in macadam material and $5 to $7 a thousand in paving brick.

ROSCOE AGAIN TO

"Willie" Gillen will probably pitch for Roscoe Sunday in the game with Cooperdale on the latter's diamond. This will be Gillen's first game of the season.

This will make the fourth time that Cooperdale and Roscoe have crossed bats this season. Cooperdale has won two out of three games from Roscoe. The biggest crowd of the season is expected to attend Sunday's game at Cooperdale, according to early indications.

Jack Brown will be behind the bat. Following is Roscoe's lineup for Sunday: Pitcher, Ed. Spauter; Catcher, Ed. Hall; Infield, Ed. Kinney; Outfield, Ed. Schuch; 1B, "Pro" Norman; 2B, E. Slaughter; Davis or Hanch in.

Business Men Hunt
For Treasure Trove

SEATTLE, Wash., July 28.—Herald and the Associated Press say that a group of business men are hunting for a treasure trove of Spanish money in the ruins of the city of Potosi, Bolivia.

Mr. C. J. Johnson, president of an oil accessories company of Seattle, was one of the hunters who accompanied a party of business men to Potosi, Bolivia, and in company with Mr. J. M. Johnson and Louis Johnson of St. Paul, Minn., and Johnson set out for the discovery of gold.

Securing the right to fish for treasure, the party, under command of Patsy O'Shea, left Seattle from New Orleans on April 1.

They found the spot marked on the map but no sign of the treasure. The return voyage a violent storm arose among members of the party, and none of them would speak to Andrews. Andrews says he has not given up hope, however, and will try again. He states the party left the island too soon.

Swan Island, a small coconut palm-covered bit of land off the coast of Honduras, is the subject of traditional tales and is said to have been one of the rendezvous of Captain Kidd—of course.

The Fight for the Registry

By FREDERICK CLARKE

(The Daily Western Newspaper Leader)

"You did us a good turn once, Doc. We intend to return the compliment." Young Dr. Hector Fairbanks smiled pleasantly but inquiringly—in fact, almost suspiciously. The speaker was Dan Babbitt. As he stood glibly in his rude Tennessee mountaineer's costume, two holsters at his belt, strength, independence and grit showing in every strong lineament of his face, the doctor did not marvel that he had been made the leader of the famous "Midnight Riders."

It was a raw district, that of which the young physician had been a resident for about a year. There were two principal points in the county—Ridgeford and Princetown. It was at the former town that Dr. Fairbanks had taken up his abode. The two places were only five miles apart, and the "safety zone," as it was called, encircled them for an area of about twenty miles. Thence to the south of Princetown was a mountain stretch infested by rough mountaineers known as the Breckin clan. The same condition prevailed south of Ridgeford, where Dan Babbitt and his "Midnight Riders" held full sway. A broken ridge divided the two districts, the respective rights and privileges of which were jealously guarded by either community.

For years a small but solidly built structure located just on the township line at a little settlement called Bryan had been the registry office of the county. All the official business of the district was carried on there, and there the county records were kept. One night the Breckin raiders, wiping out a fancied insult from the main residents of the place, "shot up" the settlement, set fire to what little there was of it, and every structure in Bryan was consumed except the registry office.

The state authorities were advised of this outrage and ordered a special election. The voters of the county were to decide upon a new site for the registry office, with a view to locating it in a less isolated locality where its records could be protected. A central point was necessary, and the choice designated was between Ridgeford and Princetown.

Now, three days later, Dan walked into the office of Dr. Fairbanks with the words that begin our story. The favor which the young physician had done to which Dan alluded was an exequy call for attendance on a wounded friend for whom the officers were looking. He rode twenty miles amidst all the perils of a dark, stormy night, saved the life of the refugee, braved a stray shot from the watching Breckins and won the undying gratitude of Dan.

"I thought I would come and tell you how things stood about the registry office," continued the young outlaw leader.

"Why, the election has settled that matter," observed Dr. Fairbanks.

"Not by a long shot," dissented Dan vigorously. "An election isn't much in this country. Jed Breckin realizes that, and we have accordingly learned, has sent for a house moving outfit to lug the registry office records and all over to Princetown."

"You mean that?" exclaimed the young physician.

"Just for them get that building over to Princetown," continued Dan, "and we'll never let it back. I want you to quietly get about fifty of the residents here who can be depended on, ready to act with my crowd tomorrow night."

"There's old Delver and his gang—especially the girl, Jess her pretty eyes! Miss Dora."

Old Delver had been the registrar of the county from time immemorial. His daughter Dora was his chief clerk.

"You people make a stand here," ordered Dan to the doctor and his party, "and I'll be back. If you won't stand, I'll be back, you won't stand."

WOMEN WILL SIT ON THE JURY ON TRIAL
OF GOV. LEN SMALL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 29.—Gov. Len Small, now "at large" with three warrants out for his arrest, will probably have to face one or more women on the jury that will try him next September.

It was learned today from a reliable source that the names of scores of Sangamon county women have been placed in the September jury wheel, from which will be drawn a jury for the governor's trial.

The "wheel" was closed today. It was announced from the office of State Attorney C. Fred Mortimer, that the state would not bar women jurors; on the other hand it was intimated that the state attorney would welcome one or more women on the jury.

The attitude of the governor's legal advisers is not known. There is a possibility however that the governor will win a change of venue from the Sangamon county courts altho this effort will be vigorously opposed by the state.

The county authorities have adopted a "wait and see" policy toward the governor and his array of legal advisers.

They are awaiting some reply to the "unconditional surrender" ultimatum sent to him at Chicago two days ago. This ultimatum declared the governor would have to submit to arrest at the Sangamon county court house.

The bench warrants issued by Judge E. S. Smith for the governor's arrest are still locked in the safe of Sheriff Meester. His attitude was explained in the cryptic comment: "It's the governor's move."

Both sides in the drama of legal action that threatens to be the most sensational in Illinois political history were apparently marking time.

LENSES ARE NOT YET ADOPTED

The anti-glare auto lenses to comply with the requirements of the Peace anti-glare law which goes into effect August 16th, have not been adopted and motorists are warned to beware of those who are disposing of their supply of auto lenses under the pretense of having been approved by the state.

This warning is sounded by the committee which is making the tests for the state preliminary to enforcement of the anti-glare law. The committee has already tested three devices submitted by lens manufacturers, but has not yet approved or recommended what shall be used.

Thru misrepresenting their product salesmen have succeeded in unloading a large supply of old stock through the state, according to the warning issued. L. C. Herrick, state highway commissioner, is designated by the Peace law to say finally which lenses and devices meet requirements of the law, and may be used in Ohio after the law becomes effective.

Warn Of Infantile
Paralysis In Ohio

COLUMBUS, O., July 29.—Because of the appearance of cases of infantile paralysis in various sections of the state, State Health Director H. H. Strick, today, asked physicians and parents throughout the state to be on the alert against wider development of the disease. In issuing the warning Director Strick said he was prompted to do so more by the appearance of timely preventative measures, than by any positive threat of epidemic spread of the disease.

"It is too early to prophesy that infantile paralysis will be usually prevalent this year, but there are some indications that might result in such a situation," Director Strick said. He added that state health officials were watching the situation closely, and that there is at the present time cause for undue alarm.

Director Strick said the disease is manifesting more widely than at any time since that epidemic in 1911.

Parents are asked to watch their children closely, and if they develop signs of infantile paralysis to report at once to a physician. The symptoms for infantile paralysis are head-ache, fever, diarrhea and vomiting, which are common to children who are suffering from an infection of the system.

Splash! Bathtub
Tete-a-Tete Gets Husband Angry

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Mrs. Reatha Hunt did not take a tet-a-tete with a male roomer at the Hunt house. Her husband's charge that she did is entirely false. Mrs. Hunt's answer today in her answer to his charge of absolute divorce.

Hunt, in his petition, said he had returned from work, and that he looked at his wife in the bathroom. When his presence was revealed, Hunt alleged, the co-respondent came to the door in his bathrobe and let him in. Meanwhile, he says, Mrs. Hunt hurriedly donned a house dress.

While denying the allegations positively, Mrs. Hunt in her reply, contends that the bathroom is situated so that hubby couldn't possibly have seen her, even though she had been in the tub, with or without a companion.

SHOWS PLEASING TO MOOSE COMMITTEE

"There was no misrepresentation," we found everything as it was represented to be. The World At Home and Polack Brothers Combined Shows are the best of their kind ever offered to the public." That was the opinion expressed yesterday by special committee members of Local No. 935 of the Loyal Order of Moose who went Wednesday night to Mt. Vernon in order to get first hand information about these shows. The committee consisted of Chairman Sidney Turner and Secretary Wesley Clark and Captain E. F. Spurr. The shows on Monday evening are to open an engagement here under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose at the west end show grounds, at Mulberry and Water streets. The engagement will last one week only. "There are about twenty feature attractions and numerous rides with the World-at-Home and Polack Brothers Combined Shows," continued Mr. Turner, who acted as spokesman. "Among them are 'Omar Sami' with his house of a thousand wonders and museum of modern miracles; Curtis' animal circus; Rogers performing midgets with Ike and Mike; The Vampires; Turzoni the athletic show and The Dixie Minstrels. Then there are Joe Dobish, Irene Dare, and Speedy Smith riding a perpendicular wall, 25 feet in height, on motorcycles which speed from 60 to 85 miles an hour, and juggling with death many times a day, these two men and the girl are probably the greatest dare-devils now appearing before the public."

Big Fight Arena
Swayed Under Weight

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 29.—The swaying of the fight arena structure at Jersey City during the Dempsey-Carpenter fight was the subject of explanation recently by Cornelius S. and Joseph W. Edwards. The Edwards brothers, who are brothers of Governor Edwards, built the arena.

"The arena structure is absolutely safe," said Joseph W. Edwards. "It was planned by engineers who knew all about strength of materials. It swayed because it was all built together. We tested the supports by putting on fifteen weights and observing the effect with instruments. The arena is built so that if it were possible to lift it it would hang all together. All buildings will sway. There isn't a chimney in the world that is well built that won't sway. If it would not sway it might fall to pieces. The posts have eight foot centres, and are 8x10 inches, 10x10 inches and 10x12 inches. The only possible chance of any break is in a faulty plank. The building satisfied Building Inspector John Saul, who said: 'The Rickard is insured, but it there should be an accident responsible officials would be damned forever.'"

Appendix Removed

Raymond Haskins, aged 12, underwent an operation at the City hospital for the removal of his appendix. Dr. Jesse McClain and Dr. J. D. Lower performed the operation.

CAMBRIA SAXOPHONE
 QUARTET PLEASES AT PLAINFIELD CHAUTAUQUA

The Cambria Saxophone Quartet, delightfully entertained an audience of approximately 600 people in the chautauqua tent at Plainfield Thursday evening. Miss Cora Edwards, Coshocton, was on the program and contributed several beautiful vocal and piano selections.

Miss Mary Kott of the Redpath Lyceum bureau, pleased the audience with her readings, which were given in eloquent manner. Her reading of Edmund Spenser's "Mosses from an Old Manse" was most interesting to the children, while her other selections were of an adult character.

FATHER OF ANTI-SMOKE MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 29.—"I am glad you do not smoke or chew—it would be heaven to kiss a man with a clean mouth!" writes Bernice Kern, of Des Moines, Iowa, to Congressman Paul B. Johnson, of Mississippi, who is carrying on a hard fight in the House to prohibit women from smoking in public places in Washington.

"Bully for you, Mr. Representative, of Mississippi. I am not a prude. I am not a prohibitionist. I like a man to have his glass of beer, wine, or even whiskey, as the case may be; but I draw the line at women smoking either publicly or otherwise. I have two granddaughters who smoke. I am ashamed to say. They will never see a penny of my money just for that."

Unmoved by the hundreds of condemnations and congratulations that have come to him as the result of his attempt to "regulate" the women of Washington, Johnson is busy lining up members of Congress in support of his Anti-Smoke bill and hopes that it will become a law.

"You don't know what you are missing if you dismiss without experience the charm of Lady Nicotine," H. French, writes to the congressman. "If women lived today in accordance with the standards set by their grandmothers they would be crushed in the process."

Mrs. William Greenville, of New York City, says:

"This has been a man's world long enough," she continued, "and we women are ready and willing to regulate our own affairs as soon as you leave it to us and spend your time raising the standard of the man element."

The women of Washington apparently have taken little interest in the Johnson bill, only two of the many letters he has received on the subject having come from the Capital.
